TWO RELEASED FROM CUS. TODY NOW AT HOME.

Say They Are Enemy Aliens and Just Want to Be Left Alone.

The two German women who were arrested and taken to the county jail inst Saturday night from their home at 210 Mississippi avenue have been released and are back at home. "Troureleased and are back at home. "Trouble, why there has been no trouble here. This is not the place," declared one of the women, who said her name was Mrs. Williers, as well as her broken English could be understood, when a reporter from The News attempted to interview her Wednesday. She answered the door and said that he had an engagement to go some she had an engagement to go some where "right away," and didn't have time to talk. She talked back and forth in her native language to another woman in the house, who could be heard but not seen. A little boy passed through the hall and went up stairs. The boy, she said, was hers. He was 4 years old. There were two other chil-dren in the house, but none over 4

The woman was dressed in a dark blue coat suit. She had light hair and blue eyes and a fair complexion. She was tall. The neighbors say there are only three women there, and not five, as was reported. They also discredit The neighbors declare that they have seen nothing wrong with the women, and the evening of the arrest of the women and soldlers was the first time they had seen soldiers there. The women were said to have been fright-ened when the officers came that eve-ning, thinking something had happened to their husbands at the prison camp. Mrs. Williers, who was the one left at home with the children and who inswered the door, stoutly denied that there had been any trouble there and that they all just staid at home quietly, because they were "allen enemies." Volunteer Workers Helping Stamp Out Influenza at Chickamauga.

Four Red Cross ambulances from one of the ambulance companies at
Ninth and Georgia avenue Thursday morning at 7:30 filled with Red Cross millionaires. There is no evidence of wealth. They wash and scrub and cook, and their children, in their daily cook, and their children, in their daily play, mention baking days, washing days, etc. The women are occupying Mrs. C. C. Chaffe's old home in the very best section of North Chattanooga, about one block from the car line. The house is large and commodious and is owned by Mr. Dietz.

The neighbors declare that they have seen nothing. camp answering an appeal sent out by the Red Cross for nurses and aids at the camp to help stamp out the influenza epidemic. Most of the volunteer workers were those who members of the first aid classes conducted last season under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Loaring Clark, or those which were carried on by the Asso-ciated Charities, when C. H. Hudson was director of the work. However, there are some few graduate nurses who have offered their services to the who have offered their services to the Red Cross workers at the camp dur-ing the epidemic.

These Chatatnoogans go out every morning at this time in the army ambulances and will continue to do so just as long as their services are needed at the camp. They are giving material aid in helping stamp out the epidemic which has become so serious. Among those who went Thursday morning were Mesdames V. D. L. Robinson, R. M. George, Miss Anita George, Miss Margaret Shalliday and Miss Bradford and others.

ANOTHER CALL FOR NURSES

Women Available for Service Requested to Meet This Afternoon.

Any nurses, whether professional or practical, school teachers or other men who have taken the Red Cross classes are requested by Mrs. Loaring Clark to be at the Volunteer State Life building in the council of defense room this afternoon at 4 o'clock. It is the desire of the committee to find out who desire of the committee is available for the service of nursing. Nurses are badly needed for home and overseas work, hence the committee makes this call.

CHILDREN OF SCHOOL AGE DEVELOP MUMPS, ETC.

Epidemic of Spanish "Flu" Spreads to Many Local Familes in Many Sections.

With Spanish "flu" raging in all sections of the city, many homes where there are small children are reporting that the usual minor diseases have made their appearance in the schoolage ranks. For this reason there is thankfulness that the schools are closed. Measles, whooping cough and mumps are going the rounds. Home remedies are being applied, for it is almost impossible to get a doctor "these days." There are not many Chattanooga physicians still in civilian practice. Some of these, too, are stricken with influenza and the epidemic is proving a severe strain on the few who are trying to outrace the disease. With Spanish "flu" raging in all sec-

Mother Had Hands Full. One little mother who has three tots has just completed a course of chicken pox with her brood. These were the only cases of such diseases in the neighborhood and the mother was perplexed as to how and where they "caught" it. It was fully explained when the washerwoman came to get "caught" it. It was fully explained when the washerwoman came to get the week's laundry. On learning that the children had been ill, she said: "Well, isn't that funny! My little girl had it last week." The mother couldn't see the funny side, but said if she had to nurse another case of chicken pox or "flu," she would go distracted.

'FLU" PASSES OVER MACON Camp Wheeler Peculiarly Escapes Epi-

A Chattanooga boy who is soldier-ing at Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga., has written to anxious relatives for them not to worry, that the Spanish "fiu" has passed over his camp. It is considered very odd that in the general epidemic of influenza raging in cities and particularly army canfonments, the Macon camp should escape. It is recalled that during the meningities scourge several months ago Camp Wheeler was one of the heaviest sufferers. At the time a number of Chattanooga boys were critically ill there, among them being Lieut. Wayne Conner, son of Judge and Mrs. Sam A.

Judge Yarnell Continues Randolph's Case Till Resurrection Day.

Judge Oscar Yarnell proved Thursday in the circuit court that he is a worthy successor to Judge Nathan L. Bachman, whose wit and humor is known throughout East Tennesses. The brunt of Judge Yarnell's humor fell upon the shoulders of John K. Randolph, a product of the good old county of Bradley, but a long time practitioner at the Hamilton county bar. A case was called involving the practitioner at the Hamilton county bar. A case was called involving the question of damages and Mr. Randolph arose and said: "May it please the court, I am counsel for the complainant in this case, but I find that he is dead. I have looked about in an effort to resurrect another to bring the suit in his name. I have tot been able, however, to resurrect anyone yet, may it please the court." "All right, I will pass this case until resurrection day," said Judge Ys
